THE SENESCHALE'S SENDING

Greetings to all! Well, it looks like we have an extra month and a half to work on Winter Solstice (now called Candlemas). Let's show everyone what wonderful things we can do with that extra time!

In service,
LADY MAEVE

A&S' LIGHT

We had a nice representation of Aire Faucon at The Tourney of the Golden Moon A&S Competition: Lady Katerina Siniij, Lady Lidia Leovic, Lady Seraphina Netka and Lady Susanna von Schweissguth all participated. Lady Susanna won a blue plush sheep and hand knitted shawl.

At Atlantia University in Raleigh, we had four gentles teaching classes: Baroness Kisaiya, Lady Alys Montgomery, Lady Marion la Red, and Lady Susanna von Schweissguth. Thank you, ladies for your fine contributions.

Spinning Nights will begin again on the Third Tuesday of each Month at the Evans' home in Iron Station. November's gathering will be a hands-on exploration of felting techniques. Contact Lady Susanna von Schweissguth (NeedleznPinz@charter.net) for directions.

We hope to see Aire Faucon artisans represented at Market Day, sponsored by The Canton of Charlesbury Crossing, and look forward to seeing lovely new, creative garb at Twelfth Night in January.

Sincerely,
LADY SUSANNA

THE CHRONICLER'S MUSINGS

One of these months, I am going to get this newsletter out in time! Once again, due to real life considerations happening to all of my contributors, the Aire Currents arrives in your mailboxes tardy, my apologies.

I hope everyone enjoys the wonderful article Lidia has written for us as well as the research opportunities it provides. Keep articles like these coming! And we all want more persona stories as well!

Until next month, I remain...

Always in Service,
LADY MAEVE

COSTUMING IDEAS FROM PUBLIC LIBRARY DATABASES

By Lady Lidia Lijovich de Ragusa

The Daily Life Through History series of reference books is a popular resource for general historical research, typically available at public libraries. Recently, an online version of the Daily Life In books has been made available to the local populace through NC Live. Many North Carolina public libraries, including the Gaston Lincoln Regional Library in Aire Faucon provide remote access to these NC Live databases to library cardholders, as well as to the general public at any of their locations.

The Daily Life books cover a broad range of historical cultures including Ancient Mesopotamia, Ancient Greeks, Aztecs, Incas, Mayans, Chaucer's England, Elizabethan, Civil War, Frontier, and Victorian. Daily Life in Chaucer's England and Daily Life in Elizabethan England are two "books" in this database collection that may be of particular interest to SCAdians.

Besides general historical background information, each of these books has topics that include the Course of Life, Cycles of Time, the Living Environment, and Food and Drink. Both have very interesting chapters on Clothing and Accessories/Accoutrements that include period patterns.

For instance, Chaucer's England includes patterns for breechs, a shirt, hose, a kirtle, men's and women's headgear, shoes, and a pouch. Directions for making medieval lace are also given. (The technique shown looks possibly like finger-loop braiding.) Either click on the "Clothing and Accessories" subheading, and browse each page using the Next button in the lower left-hand corner of the screen or run a keyword search on the term "pattern" (singular).

In Elizabethan England provides many detailed illustrations of period outfits and well as patterns for a smock, bodice, skirt, roll, breeches, shirt, Venetian breeches, doublet, coif, flap cap, netherstocks, garters, shoes, and a cassock. Once again, either click on the "Clothing and Accessories" subheading and browse each page using the Next button in the lower left-hand corner of the screen, or run a keyword search on the term "pattern".

Remember that the Daily Life Through History resources are available in the NC Live collection of databases through North Carolina public libraries. If you hold a Gaston Regional Public Library card, you can obtain a NC LIVE @ HOME password from the Circulation desk at the Main Library or at any of Branch Libraries in Gaston or Lincoln counties. The passwords do expire, need to be obtained twice a year, and must be signed for and obtained in person.

If you have any questions about the Daily Life Through History databases, please either email me at lkleovic@carolina.rr.com. In addition, do not hesitate to talk to any library staff person either in person, or over the telephone.

PERSONA STORY

Lady Ceara ni Neill

Ceara ni Neill is a 29-year old 9th century Irish woman, descended of the great King Niall of the Nine Hostages (ruler of Ireland until his death in 540 c.e.).

It was this lineage, the Clan McNeill, that would settle the Isle of Barra at the western coast of lower Scotland in the 11th century to build the first Kisimul Castle.

Before coming to Meridies and Atlantia nine years ago, Ceara's home was a small castle overlooking the seashore in Meath, about 2 days travel north of Tara*. Her mother having died at childbirth, her father raised Ceara until his untimely death at the hands of Saxon bandits on the road near Clonmacnois ten years ago. Ceara did have a motherly influence, though. There was a baintreach that lived on the castle grounds, who had secretly taught her the Old Ways.

*based on the estimated map of the provinces of Ireland during the early centuries. (Simon James, World of the Celts)

A bard, minstrel and artisan, Ceara is also a member, albeit inactive, of Clanne Preachain, another household dedicated to recreating the lifestyles of early Celtic culture.

She currently maintains PastTimes on the Web, an online newsletter dedicated to the advancement of arts and sciences in the SCA.
